

It is important not to relax FCC ownership rules. The concentration of media ownership in the hands of a few poses a serious risk to the American democracy. The uncourrupted functioning of our democrocy depends on reliable and unbiased media. Only a diverse media market can provide trustworthy content to the public. Do your duty and refuse to relax the ownership rules.